

INAUGURAL FUND RAISING GOLF TOURNAMENT!

Sjögren's Syndrome is an autoimmune connective tissue disease that attacks the moisture producing glands of the body. In essence, the patient slowly dries up from the inside. This disease is characterized by dry eyes and dry mouth, but it can also affect the kidneys, gastrointestinal system, blood vessels, lungs, liver, pancreas, and the central nervous system. Patients may also experience extreme fatigue and joint and muscle pain and they have a higher risk of developing lymphoma.

Few people, including doctors, understand Sjögren's. It is widely underdiagnosed and to date, there is no cure for it.

Join Golf4Sjögren's and Baylor College of Medicine in an inaugural tournament to fund Sjögren's research and help establish a clinic right here in our own Texas Medical Center to treat this disease.
